Dear MICPA Members,

Michigan and health leadership worldwide have made it clear that the most effective way to prevent illness and slow the spread of COVID-19 is to avoid exposure. Businesses have a significant role to play in this effort as the conduit to our members, clients, employees and many others— we have the opportunity to communicate effectively and limit the risk of exposure for so many individuals.

While the MICPA physical offices have been closed for the safety of our team and visitors we remain fully available, operational and ready to serve the needs of our membership virtually.

Until May 31, 2020, all in-person MICPA events have been suspended. We are working to provide digital programming solutions or reschedule offerings up until that date. Events after that time remain in place though we will continue to monitor and provide updates to you should changes become necessary.

Given the enhanced focus on virtual training, we wanted to share a reminder of the Continuing Professional Education rules for webinars and self-study programs. Webinars count as ‘group live’ CPE attendance. For the continuing education period of July 1, 2019 – June 30, 2020, the Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs (LARA) has lifted the 50% self-study cap on continuing education credits.” You can learn more here.

All challenging times like this also present opportunities. Our job is to assist you through this time of transition and change with resources that will not only help your business now but place it in the best possible position to move forward. Continue to check micpa.org for updates and learning opportunities and for COVID-19-related resources.

If you have questions or feedback for us while you work through your business’s response to the outbreak, please call us at 248.267.3700.

All the best,

Bob Doyle
